

Morrison-Maierle Accessibility Statement

Updated: 6-26-2026

Morrison-Maierle is committed to ensuring our website (m-m.net) is accessible to everyone, including those with disabilities. We continuously improve our site's usability and strive to meet or exceed recognized accessibility standards.

We perform regular audits using industry-standard tools to evaluate screen reader compatibility, keyboard navigation, color contrast, form accessibility, ARIA labels, semantic structure, and image alt text. When we encounter an issue, our team addresses it promptly.

While no website can be 100% accessible for every user at all times, we welcome feedback. If you encounter an accessibility issue or have suggestions for improvement, please contact us at hello@m-m.net or use the form on the Contact Us page.

We follow the current industry standards and resource guidelines:
